If I Was . . . (inspired by objects in a Magic Bag)

by Mrs. Broderick's Primary-Grade Class, Sonoma County

If I was a magic rain stick
I'd dream about rainy weather.
My best friends would be another rain stick and a fish in Siberia.

If I was a candle,
I would burn the night.
I'd eat wax, fire and candle food.

If I was an echo bowl,
I'd live in a red house
with pink trim and a green boat parked out in front—in Israel,
the singing bowl country.

If I was a whistle,
I'd dream about whistling
in someone's ear.
I'd live in a refrigerator
in Santa Rosa.
My favorite foods would be the sun, red-winged blackbirds, a rope, and a hawk. I would play music.

If I was a cookie cutter,
I'd go to school in a cookie in Hawaii;
I'd go to school in someone's brain.
My favorite cookies would be cherry and chocolate cookies.
I'd dream about being a cookie cutter
in cookie cutter school.
I'd be born in the closet.

If I was a spoon,
I would sleep in the silverware drawer.
I would dance at Baskin-Robbins
Thirty-One Flavors.
I would dance in a trash can.
My best friends would be a knife, a fork,
and hands.
